Probably the most commonly recommended feature that should be immediately obvious to any Photoshop user is the introduction of Smart Sharpen. A single new slider allows you to dynamically mix White Balance-neutral Bright and Shadow detail for a noticeably sharper result, all at once, with no tools required. The ability to quickly batch apply masking, reflowing, and content-aware photography to layers also makes it easy to remove elements from a single image, such as a background or shapes, without having to save a separate file or need to fear the loss of any content. It is great to be able to have more control over your actions than with other tools available, such as two key board shortcuts and the ability to select multiple layers for change. New features include a Dynamic Topology tool with the ability to create 3D surfaces directly from any image independent of extraneous error vector data. It brings the flexibility of the 3D warp tool to almost every image in the toolbox, as well as providing new, accurate control over the deformable mesh using real-time data. The new Surface Blur Filter is able to remove details from any surface, while maintaining edges, quickly and easily, simply by scattering white noise around its edges. The Surface Blur filter works with all layers, and works well in conjunction with all modern image stylization tools. This is a new workflow feature for accessing tonality on images that is required for high dynamic range (HDR) images to properly render all the information in the image. You can now assign different tonalities to a default profile or custom profile as you deem necessary, or create custom tonalities from scratch.
